

Voices) Lyrics by Local H

"Smothered In Hugs"

Visit "Smothered In Hugs" on MotoLyrics.com

In the summer that you came there was something eating everyone and the sunshine fun was low we could elude you with a simple hello and the watchers of the flood were busy in the chambers Making sure their was new blood to sustain their dieing vain
But I believe you
no need for further questioning
I'm going to leave with you
you can teach me all you know
Which way do we go now
I've dreamept of where all the wind goes
I really don't know now
I really don't know
In the winter that you left there was business as usual with the same old tears and frustration
The word got out it's really such a pity the judges and the saints and the text book committee decided you should be left out not even mentioned
But I believe you
no need for further questioning
I'm going to leave with you
you can teach me all you know
Which way do we go now
I've dreamept of where all the wind goes
I really don't know now
I really don't know

Visit Voices\) Lyrics by Local H page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.