well baby,
i'd always take you with me
this fact is well known.
but this time my friend,
i have to go alone.

well i just want you to know,
that what we had was real.
and no matter how far i go,
no matter how many people...

i won't forget
the way back to you.
and if you find somebody new,
i won't mind.

up all night,
can't sleep a wink
can't talk, can't write,
can't even think.
i can't believe you're going alone,
i can't believe i'm staying home.

we'll meet again someday,
just you wait and see.
we'll laugh about this day and it'll be like it use it be.

i just want you to know,
that what we had was real.
and no matter how far i go,
no matter how many people...

the way back to you.
and if you find somebody new,
i won't mind.
i'll wait in line,
until you think of what love
really is
and then remember,

the first time that we kissed.

so now i gotta take this trail,
don't leave i hate this pain.
i'll come back to you again,
feels like i'm gone insane.
it's not the end,
it's just a break.
i don't know
how much more i can take.
something tells me it's only a stage please, please don't leave for goodness sake.

i just want you to know,
that what we had was real.
and no matter how far i go,
no matter how many people...

the way back to you.
and if you find somebody new,
i won't mind.
i'll wait in line,
really is
and then remember
the first time that we kissed.
