There I go
Looking out the back window
Reflections of the days gone by Friends & family left behind
And sing a song & say the words so rarely spoken
About a girl some love lost
A heart that has been broken down

And California here I come
California here I come
California here I come
Someone tell me when to hit the brakes
Oh yeah someone tell me when to hit the brakes

I want to feel the heat
Feel the warmth of the summer
We can drive up to the Hollywood sign if you wanna
Taken away by the city of angels
Do they really know that we're along way from home tonight?

Old rattled dashboard speakers filled up with distortion
Coke cans piled up on the floor
We'll drive until we hit the ocean
There's a girl back home
Knew everything it took to get that far
Long before some better days
Well are we really happy now that

California here I come
California here I come
California here I come
Someone tell me when to hit the brakes
Oh yeah someone tell me when to hit the brakes

I want to feel the heat
Feel the warmth of the summer
We can drive up to the Hollywood sign if you wanna
Taken away by the city of angels
Do they really know that we're along way from home
tonight?

Want to feel the heat
Feel the warmth of the summer
We can drive up to the Hollywood sign if you wanna
Well, taken away by the city of angels
Do they really know that we're along way from home
tonight?

What's the worst thing
So unnerving
You've been watching too much tv
And my minds made up
I'm so fed up
Let's go away where we can count the stars tonight

I want to feel the heat
Feel the warmth of the summer
We can drive up to the Hollywood sign if you wanna
Taken away by the city of angels
Do they really know that we're along way from home
tonight?
I want to feel the heat
Feel the warmth of the summer
We can drive up to the Hollywood sign if you wanna
Well, taken away by the city of angels
Do the really know that we're along way from home tonight?
