(Justin Tubb)

You're telling everybody that she loves you
You know she don't
You're telling everybody that she'll come back
You know she won't
You tell the same old story to everybody else
And pretty soon you'll start believe it yourself.

I know because she put me through it too
She gets around
And you've got so much pride you won't admit
She turns you down
So you'll stick to your story I did the same thing too
And pretty soon you'll start believe that it's true.

--- Instrumental ---

But you're just asking for a broken heart
When you won't quit
Cause when you start believe in your own lies
That's what you'll get
So go tell everybody she loves somebody else
And maybe soon you'll start believe it yourself...
