I lit a fire tonight
And jumped back when it came to life
My heart is racing
Burned out and just begun
Built like I'm made to come undone
This love will flicker in the flames

I stop counting lovers
When I forget their names
And bury them in melodies
I won't spend another sleepless night
Trying to believe
Trying to believe

I lit a fire tonight
A self-centered, calculated lie
My heart is in one piece

Burned out and just begun
I couldn't stop the ignition
No love just lust and leave

I stop counting lovers
When I forget their names
And bury them in melodies
I won't spend another sleepless night
Trying to believe
Trying to believe

I could go to waste
On a reckless leap of faith
We all know just how I got here
This is how I plan to leave

And when the smoke is gone
I look back at the hearts left in the wake
And go back to my other thousand ways

I stop counting lovers
When I forget their names
And bury them in melodies

I won't spend another sleepless night
Trying to believe
Trying to believe

Boys forget your girls
Forget your girls
They will bring you down, down oh oh

Girls forget your boys
Forget your boys
They will break your hearts oh oh oh

Boys forget your girls
Forget your girls
They will bring you down, down oh oh

Girls forget your boys
Forget your boys

Boys forget your girls
Forget your girls
They will bring you down, down oh oh

Girls forget your boys
Forget your boys
