She said "California's callin'
Nothin' here for me
This town has lost its charm some time ago"

She said "I've made up my mind
I'm leavin'
I wanted you to know"

She said "California's callin'
Nothin' here for me
This town has lost its charm some time ago" (time ago)

She said "I've made up my mind
I'm leavin'
I wanted you to know"

In a town where seconds pass like days
Twenty years is long enough to stay
Soon enough she'll catch that train

No matter where you go
My heart will find you there
And when you're all alone
Know you've got a friend back home

She said "everyone's a critic
Nothin' like it used to be"
That's too bad; she can't see it's everywhere
(everywhere)
I know that California's callin'
And why not, it's anywhere but here

In a town where seconds pass like days
Twenty years is long enough to stay
Soon enough she'll catch that train

No matter where you go
My heart will find you there
And when you're all alone
Know you've got a friend back home

No matter where you go
My heart will find you there
And when you're all alone
Know you've got a friend back home

She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
She said "California's callin'"
