What am I doing with myself tonight?
Or tomorrow? I can't get this right
I wish I had friends that could talk
Instead of freezing my ass off on this mindless walk, yeah

And as the late night drivers pass me by
I am anxious, I am waiting
For the dawn in this star city
And relief from my routines

It scares me to death
Until I see my own breath

With you (with you)
I gave up on (I gave up on)
Everything I've given up on
Everything that's ever gone wrong
Don't beat yourself up over this
My life doesn't have to be distinguished

A random memory at glance
Of the capitol building at last
I reminisce how small I am
And the insignificance of my problems
Of my problems

With you (with you)
I gave up on (I gave up on)
Everything I've given up on
Everything that's ever gone wrong
Don't beat yourself up over this
My life doesn't have to be distinguished

The cold air guides me through everything I'm feeling
No matter what problems I find I'll make it through them
Before I even have a chance to look behind
I'll discover new problems in time, new problems I wish I could go back to

With you
I gave up on (wish I could go back to)
Everything I've given up on Everything that's ever gone wrong (wish I could go back to)
Don't beat yourself up over this (wish I could go back to)
Wish I could go back to

With you
I gave up on (wish I could go back to)
Everything I've given up on Everything that's ever gone wrong (wish I could go back to)
