All these songs were just writings on the wall
And I can't forget the words they said
You and me we're so hard to comprehend
And we'll never be the same again

Sometimes I realize things are decided above
How do you know?
How can you say you know more about love?
I've poured my heart out on these pages so listen to what I say
I gave you everything and you just threw it away

You don't know much about love

All these nights I'll just chalk up on the wall
And I'll wait for the day that you come home
All I see is another lonely night
Waiting by the phone
