You can feel the bodies aching
You can feel the spirit wasting
But it's someone else's children
And it's someone else's problem in the end

You just go about your business
You've got bigger fish frying
Someday you might be a witness
Someday you may wake up crying like I cry

What's the problem?
There's no problem in your own little world
What's the bother? Can't be bothered
'Til your own little world goes to hell
Then you can tell

We are all in this together
We are all in this together
We got to pull together
And we can't worry who's sorry now

Who's sorry now
Now that everything is clear
Who's sorry now
Sorrow spoken here, please take a bow

You got so many distractions
You got old friends to satisfy
You're afraid of the reaction
If the others should find out, you'd falsify

Maybe this could never happen
Maybe God is on your side
Tell yourself what I tell myself
That it's justice when somebody else must die

It's a hard life
Such a hard life, it's a hard little world
Some are winners, some are losers
Here in our little world

But you'd sell out, beg, borrow, steal

Move mountains, if it was your own
It was your own
When it's your own, pretty baby

There's no method in the madness
We all can't escape the sadness
Don't surround your heart with hardness
You may someday need someone to sympathize

Before you're crushed by your own selfishness
You must confess

We are all in this together
We are all in this together
We got to pull together
And we can't worry who's sorry now

Who's sorry now?
Now that everything is clear
Who's sorry now?
Sorrow spoken here, please take a bow

Who's sorry now?
Now that everything is clear
Who's sorry now?
Sorrow spoken here, please take a bow

Who's sorry now?
Now that everything, everything
Everything, everything, everything, everything
Everything is clear

So sorry now
Are you feeling sorry?
Sorrow spoken
Sorrow spoken
Sorrow spoken here
Who's sorry now?
Who's sorry now?
Who's sorry now?
