One look over the shoulder it feels like something's around Nothing but the chills running colder no vision and no revealing sound

A red-light over the doorway casting shadows into the room Nearby a presence in the darkness throughout space and the way around the moon

Someone's Watching me from a distance
Someone's Watching you from afar

No sign of anyone stranger but somehow the freedom is gone A small eye a warning of danger control of life and everything that belongs

Someone's Watching me from the distance Someone's Watching you from afar, yeah Someone's Watching...over us...

Someone's Watching me from the distance
Someone's Watching you from afar

Someone's Watching me
Someone's Watching you
Someone's Watching us
Someone's Watching me
Someone's Watching you
Someone's Watching us
