I know there comes a time when you lose faith in what you believe inside and did you know somehow it's just a spark that's a start

that keeps us from the crowd.

The other day this girl came up to me and asked if she used to go to school with me and kinda laughed and she said wasn't I the guy her friends always called a waste of time.

I know just who I am and what's in my head is that I don't really give a damn who you think I am.

When I stop and think about to where I'll be 10 years from now

I wonder if the me of now would call myself washed up or watered down or part of the crowd?

and the other night this guy came up to me downtown and can't believe that after 5 years I'm still around and he said, wasn't I the guy who walked these streets all night?

It's such a waste of time
