On a tuesday in the rain I never thought there'd come a day

if I put myself to the test would I ever raise a fist would I just shut my mouth, would I just block it out?

I've sworn a million times never to be left,

standing with that feeling of hopelessness, just standing nervous in the alley

When all is said and through would I know just what to do and if I put myself to the test would I ever raise a fist would I just shut my mouth or just block it out

I've sworn a million times never to be left,

Is it a change of heart, that keeps us apart

and you say it's true and we know it's true when all we have left is me and you and it's so strange, when all I have left to say is I wonder what's worth fighting for
