Dance all night and sleep all day just to help you keep The pain away, cause this thing we got going on here ain't

Never gonna get us where we wanted to be.

So pop these pills and hang on tight, just before you break across the line

And we're not gonna be going no where so take advance and look at what you wanted to see.

Hey! Mister, mister, we've got something to say to you.

You better listen

Before it's too late. It's an uphill battle we fight, and admits the truth we never needed

You for today.

Stay out late and cry all night, cause the roads you walk will eat you alive

And nothing I can say or do is gonna be enough to get your head outta this

Wear your heart out on your sleeve, but now it seems your in too deep cause the Minute only takes you so far when there's not enough coming when you need it the most.

Hey! Mister, mister, we've got something to say to you.

You better listen

Before it's too late. It's an uphill battle we fight, and
admits the truth we never needed

You for today.

This nightlife's gonna kill you, the empty bottle doesn't care

I'm gonna stay right by your bedside and when you wake I will be

There. It takes a willing ear to listen, it takes a cured heart to love

And if the keys have passed the first two left, I'll be the one your thinking of.

Hey! Mister, mister, we've got something to say to you.

You better listen

Before it's too late. It's an uphill battle we fight, and

admits the truth we never needed
You for today. [x2]
