Hmm
Alright, alright
Oh yeah yeah, baby

When the clouds cover up your heart
And the darkness appears before the rain starts
Though the hours turn to many days
The hope that soon it will pass is what you embrace

For the clouds will rain in a season
Healing drops to wash the hurt away
And the sun will give in it's perfect time
Revelations of a brand new day

Take heart this time
Know everything will be alright
Rest assured that soon as the morning comes
We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light, eh
We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light

Now it seems having been here before
One would know by now when to yield the floor
To the one who created time and space
Knowing sometimes the message is simply to wait for our faith

Is not what could happen
Or the evidence of what we can't see
But our hope is what you can still hold to Never letting go of what you believe, oh

Take heart this time
Know that everything will be alright
Rest assured that soon as the morning comes
We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light, eh
We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light

Should you ever need someone
Just call me, oh yeah
It's not a question if I'm here for you
I'm right by your side through the test of time

Know everything will be alright
Walkin' in the light, eh
We'll go walkin' in the light
Walkin' in the light
Walkin' in the light

We'll go walkin' in the light
We'll go walkin' in the light
We'll go walkin' in the light
