"Wings Of Despair"

sometimes my visions
are distant and vague
down at the base
of the mountain
once in a while I am
weak and afraid
tired and sick of it all

I don't believe that my story is set nothing is destined
or blatant
bound to this body
a world full of hate
no one will heed if I fall

no one can see it
but you know that it's there guiding the steps of your soul
holding the truth
in the cross that you bear
die with a heart that is bold

fly on the wings of despair
no one is holding you back the call on the wild is internal conquer the silence you BEAR tomorrow will not fade to black a new day is dawning
remember

the questions are more than the answers I know that doesn't mean you are lonely searching for more
consecutive goal's
making it worth to go on

the call of the wild is internal

you, and you alone
is forging the path
leave your sorrows with the past

never believe that the story is set
no one will heed if you fall
