The stars are shining and I feel like I never gonna get home.
This grass is so wet.
When am I ever get it home, i suppose im always gonna be alone.
The sun is rising and im on my way home the road is our most unknown

And I love you so hard that I will never forget you and even if you leave me here I will promise to follow this love says to be true
but its only me and you

The road feels endless but I'm almost home and with your last words, I will never be alone well take this piece of poetry and I will promise you that this will last.
Home I feel safe killing away my feelings with the sound of my speakers sleep, just sleep the night away

and even if you leave me here I will promise to follow

but love doesn't come free and I'm back in the grass with stars over my head and the tears on their way take back the time we weren't there

and even if you leave me here I will promise to follow
