There's a light by the window
There's a shadow by the sea
Where there's an angel or assassin
I know she waits for me
There's a time and place she say
Where we can always meet
Well that's alright by me
Breakaway
I can always hear her say
There's a time and there's a place
Where we can always be
Breakaway

That secret paradise
We'd find it again and again
She'd roll me like a train
On that sunken island
We'd run together
Where know one dared to dream
I can still remember that silken beacon

Oh breakaway
I can almost hear her say
The world is such a stupid place
We'll crack the sky and get lost in space
Oh breakaway

(repeat)
