"Still Love You"

When I walk through the boneyard with you
I think I'm walking hand in hand
with my own ghost.
I've been many things,
played a fool to catch a king
and I've even been the man behind the walls
who hears your screams.

But I still love you. Yeah I still love you.

Like a wolf on a black new moon,
a shadow boxer at high noon
I'm acting lost and so confused
that much is clear.
Are you the one I've come to save,
are you the water or the wave,
am I drinking you down deep
or drowning here.

But I still love you, yeah I still love you.
