Standing at a crossroad in the dead of night
Waiting for the dark to fade into the light
Until there's only You
'Til there's only You

No one here but me and You and all my tears
Will You make me like the air and let me disappear
So there's only You
Oh there's only You

Cause only You mend all that I have broken
Only You hear what I leave unspoken
Only You know if I'll ever let go
For only You

I've been restless now for hours though it feels like years
Like a shepherd to a lost land, You find me here
And there is only You
There is only You

Only You mend all that I have broken
Only You hear what I leave unspoken
Only You know how I wanna let go
For only You

All this time I've lived with everything to prove Now I can't remember who I have to prove it to Lord it's only You
It's only You

Only You mend all that I have broken
Only You hear what I leave unspoken
Only You know that I'm letting go
For only You
Only You
Only You
