And when they came for me
I sang my merry melody
Love, the morning ain't so dark before the dawn
Cause I know, and they know, it's far from over

And when they fit the ring
That married my soul to the wind
A tighter fit than I'd imagined, but reassuring
You know they like to feel reassured

It's hard to say which sundown may Never be seen again
But I'm given the gift of knowing what I will treasure most
And in my heart, I hold it close

Many people have been down this aisle
I have never read about it, it's hard to find
Nobody says I do, no one can change their mind
But the ring around my neck is holding tight

Many people have been down this aisle
I have never read about it, it's hard to find
Nobody says I do, no one can change their mind
But the ring around my neck is only holding tight
I meant to pay my dues, I meant to say goodbye
I never quenched my thirst, was never satisfied
Nobody told you I was coming, but tonight
I will see you in the pale moon light
