With a nine digit number code
I pledged allegiance to the flag
When I was only four years old
The first thing that I learned in school
Is we are a country free
When bad forces attack our land
I'll fight for my country
I joined the scouts when I was twelve
And put on a uniform
I learned there how to fold a flag
And how the look of a proud man was worn
We camped in the mountains, deserts and plains
We hiked through the giant trees
And I saw God in the beauty there
I'll fight for my country
With a heavy pack and a cluttered mind
A young man walks all alone
Six thousand miles away he finds
For the first time he feels at home
And he laughs to himself as he faces his fear
In the land of the mighty grizzly
It was once like this everywhere
I'll fight for my country
Now I love this river, love this land
And I love my green mountains home
And when they come to cut the forest here
They won't be fighting me alone
'Cause the wild lands are the places we go
To remember what it means to be free
When bad forces attack our land
I'll fight for my country
