Halfway gone and halfway back
You're always dreamin 'bout what you lack You're takin' your time from your busy day
To sit by the track and watch the train roll away

Dreamer I know what you're thinkin'
I can see it in your face
Maybe before you were happy
But now your thoughts aren't of this place

You've begun to change now baby, I don't see
Oh, but I know you will, and it's clear to me
You think chains hold you here now baby
But they don't exist
You don't have to stay, mama
I won't insist

Dreamer I know what you're thinkin'
I can see it in your face
Maybe before you were happy
But now your thoughts aren't of this place

So take the train today, and don't look back again Live the dreams you have, don't dwell on what has been
Your future's brighter now, there's brighter days ahead
Any sad farewell words, better left unsaid

Dreamer I know what you're thinkin'
I can see it in your face
Maybe before you were happy
But now your thoughts aren't of this place

Maybe before you were happy
But now your thoughts aren't of this place

I only wish you were with me
Someone like you can't be replaced
