We talked for hours of the travels
And all the beauty you had seen
The south of France where spring's beginning
Sunset on the Thames from the village green

We rolled on and on through the pages
Of the books you'd taken from the shelf
Unfamiliar faces and forgotten places
Landscapes green and rich in wealth

You've got a gypsy soul and you love to wander
Coast to coast, to the Canadian border
In the summer sun, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah

From my window you saw the ocean
And all the changes that has been
The south of France where spring's completing
Sunset on the Thames from the village green

You've got a gypsy soul and you love to wander
Coast to coast, to the Canadian border
In the summer sun, yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah
