Hold on, hold tight
Why is love such a bumpy ride
She told herself a million times before
He's got big dreams, no car
But one day he's gonna touch the stars
And neither one knows what's next in store

And his heart beats faster
As he walks right past her door
But hope is fading while they're waiting
What they waiting for

[Chorus]
Cause he thinks life's a movie and she thinks love's a song
But they're lost inside a moment
They don't notice till it's gone
All it takes is a twist of fate
To see they belong
But they're lost inside a moment
And they don't notice till it's gone
Till it's gone

Fast lane, fast life
They stand together in the coffee line
Like yesterday and the day before
It's too late, tonight
Maybe tomorrow they might get it right

But she is praying while, he's just stayin'
What they waiting for

[Chorus]
Cause he thinks life's a movie and she thinks love's a
song
But they're lost inside a moment
They don't notice till it's gone
All it takes is a twist of fate
To see they belong
But they're lost inside a moment
And they don't notice till it's gone

Ooh, till it's gone

Maybe if only she'd drop her pen he'd pick it up
Suddenly their eyes would meet and Finally they'd fall in love
And through a series of seemingly random events
They'd both realize

[Chorus]

He thinks life's a movie and she thinks love's a song
But they're lost inside a moment
They don't notice till it's gone
All it takes is a twist of fate
To see they belong
But they're lost inside a moment
And they don't notice till it's gone

But they're lost inside a moment
They don't notice till it's gone
All it takes is a twist of fate
To see they belong
But they're lost inside a moment
And they don't notice till it's gone
Till it's gone, ooh
