The sergent's orders could be heard all around he said, "boys, we're gonna have us a shakedown." so baby, find some walls to hide in between or these no good suckers just might suck us clean you looked so desperate from the shoreline to find some peace of mind and leave this all behind and then we'll prominade to this red mascarade's marching drum (to this headstrong brigade's marching drum) they packed the neighborhood with guns and police growled through the bullhorn, "we've come to set you free" remember elliott said "they're killing a southern belle"

if it's true, then we're next and it's just as well
