I've been taught in black and white to see it all as day or night is my mind so absent of site cant feel the colors within the light is it you or is it me

who determines what we see

I've seen red and I've felt blue green and yellow had been there too all the colors I've seen in you but now theres nothing i can do

white clouds floating in a white sky do not bother to ask me why seems to me its all been a lie what color is it when we die you or me do we know what we see
