"Home Is In My Head"

I have drunk Virginia water
I have dug my own gravesend
Set my foot ashore in new port
Traveled far beyond my lands end

And home, home, home
Home is in my head

I have dived into a black pool
With a maid stone around my neck
I just drifted into the South Sea
With no hull beyond my deck

And home, home, home
Home is in my head

Well I have lost a wheel in barrow
Try to cross the no one Cambridge
When my Liverpool grew shallow
Had to dig more wells in Turnbridge

And home, home, home
Home is in my head, is in my head
Home is in my head, is in my head
Home is in my head, it's in my head
It's in my head, in my head
