Will you fly as fast and free as my love can?
Tell me who you are, just let me know
That one day you'll be shining your light on me,
And I'll wait patiently inside the dark.
Come on love me, I'm telling you I won't be far.

Some days, when I wake before the sunrise
Dreaming, wishing I could hold back time,
That you might, might never have to live without me.

And we can see our life in the stardust written in the sky.

I touch the sky,
Every night I try to find the brightest star.
You're waiting there for me, so close but still so far.
One day I will get my wish so I can face the day,
Guess I've been waiting all my life for you.
You'll be the one making my dreams come true.

Some days, when I wake before the sunrise
Dreaming, wishing I could hold back time,
That you might, might never have to live without me.

Some days, when I wake before the sunrise
Dreaming, wishing I could hold back time,
That you might, might never have to live without me.

And we can see our life in the stardust written in the sky.
