No one can hear me, 'cause no one is around
But I still hear your whisper in the dark
I know I can go, I know I can leave when ever I please
But time is a jailor for me
A face in the window, looking inside
But no one else sees it, I know
And now that you've found that the years have changed
What the ending will be
Time's just a jailor for me
I shut out the light
Alone in the dark
This time of night
Is the heardest part
I still hear the sound of your heals on the floor
I wait for the sound of your key in the door
But it's only the sound of nothing at all and so it must be
That time is a jailor for me
Time's just a jailor for me
