

Tony Banks

"Raincloud"

Visit "Raincloud" on MotoLyrics.com

When private rainclouds form
And tears seem the likely solution
Try to shelter from the storm
Who knows what tomorrow might bring

Now the sun breaks through the dark
And life isn't quite as confusing
Release your cloud of woe
And follow it's course with your eyes

Higher higher into the blue sky
Higher higher than the tallest of mountains
Higher higher into the sunlight
Higher higher till it vanishes from view

And I will watch as it goes
And I will follow the cloud till it is gone

Though the past has let you down
Don't be too hard on the future
You can make it through the day
Who knows what tomorrow might bring
Higher higher into the blue sky
Higher higher than the tallest of mountains
Deeper deeper into the distance
It's not too late for you - oh yeah
Higher higher into the sunlight
Higher higher till it vanishes from view

And I will watch as it goes
And I will watch as the cold wind blows
And I will watch as it goes
And I will follow the cloud till it is gone

When private rainclouds form
And tears seem the likely solution
Try to shelter from the storm
Who knows what tomorrow might bring to you
Dream what tomorrow might give to you
Believe what tomorrow might bring

