

Kevin Costner

"Every Intention"

Visit "Every Intention" on MotoLyrics.com

Smoke screens, day dreams all over you
Blindfolds, crossroads, untold truths
Soft white satin, laying in the dirt
Of all the people in this world, why was it you I hurt?

I had every intention of bringing it to the light
I had a good reason to wait till the time was right
Well, I never cleared the air like I had planned to do Oh, but I had every intention, every intention, every intention to

Long shot, teardrop on your cheek
Heartache, mistake, I didn't speak
Sweet love stories, I, I guess I blurred the words Well, I, I told you all about me but one thing you never heard

I had every intention of bringing it to the light
I had a good reason to wait till the time was right
Well, I never cleared the air like I had planned to do
Oh, but I had every intention, every intention, I had every intention to

I had every intention of making it up to you
I had a good reason for straying so far from true
Well, I never cleared the air like I had planned to do
Oh, but I had every intention, every intention, I had
every intention to

Ooh, I had, ooh I had, ooh, I had, ooh

Visit Kevin Costner page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.