I see myself in the mirror
Realize what I think about myself
Nothing good it feels so bitter
I see an empty person
That person is myself
How did I become this
A lost toy on the highest shelf
No one cares no one seeks
I am on my own I feel so weak
I can't find the right way to fix this mess
No chance to change
I think I know a way
By starting with myself
No more looking in the mirror
I throw it on the ground
All the shards on the ground
The past on the ground
All my memories on the ground
The mirror on the ground
Break down that mirror with much sound
And rise as a new person
From the crushed mirror on the ground
I am angry I am mad
I wanna hurt myself
I don't care about myself just like everybody else
Why am I blind why can't I see
Forgot who I'm supposed to be
I have to live but how
I am not accepted
Not what I expected
It feels unfair but should I care
Nobody listens
No matter how many wishes
I want to be someone
But I think I am done
Just make an end of all this
All the shards on the ground
The past on the ground
All my memories on the ground
The mirror on the ground
Break down that mirror with much sound

And rise as a new person
From the crushed mirror on the ground
It's time for the change it's time for me to rearrange
Don't care how you spit
I am who I am I don't take this shit
You think you are the big man
But in fact you're my biggest fan
But you are so fake can't you see
All the shards on the ground
The past on the ground
All my memories on the ground
The mirror on the ground
Break down that mirror with much sound
And rise as a new person
From the crushed mirror on the ground
