

Tony Lucca

"Do Without"

Visit "Do Without" on MotoLyrics.com

Tell me do I bring you down with my lack of inspiration?
With these questions that I throw around to assess my situation?

Does it pain you to watch me crawl along the shore of my sea of doubt?

Could you care no less at all for all this drama you could do without?

Do Without, do without

I'm looking for light at the end of the tunnel
And a smile that awaits me there
Taking myself off the cross

That I no longer bear

I'm looking for light at the end of the tunnel

Knowing damn well I'll be free

As the light at the end of the tunnel shines on me

Thought I was your peace of mind

But you won't take this hand I lend

At the right place at the wrong time

And I quit guessing cuz I'm wrong again

Wrong again, wrong again

I'm looking for light at the end of the tunnel

And a smile that awaits me there

Taking myself off the cross

That I no longer bear

I'm looking for light at the end of the tunnel

Knowing damn well I'll be free

As the light at the end of the tunnel shines on me

I can see clear the open road out of the corner of my eye

Think it's finally time to climb behind the wheel

So I'm taking off the load of looking out for you and I

Gonna find out now exactly how you feel

Exactly how do you feel?

Tell me how does it feel now?

