sunlight when you wake up fills the first breath that you take of the air that we both share so well slowly you begin to rise and all the dreams left in my eyes come true as far as i can tell with lightning in your laughter shining brightly after you tell me all that's on your mind morning brings the best of me when all you are is next to me and love is all i can find and i want to understand said i want to understand

'til then i'll watch you sleep count each moment by your heartbeat and pray that you'll be dreaming of me with a whisper just like thunder it's a spell you've got me under a love so blind i just can't see still i can't seem to close my eyes and lie there under florida skies i hear the raindrops dance in my mind kind of like these teardrops they fall and yet they fear not the betraying trail they leave behind

i want to understand yeah, i want to understand
i want to understand
see i want to understand i don't understand baby

it seems you want to hold my hand but i know you love another man and i just wanna understand
