Sleepless blood shot eyes of red
Watched as morning made the curtains blue
Reached my hands across the bed
Could have sworn they almost touched you
Saved for the moment when I let it slide
As I remember
And I wake up on the other side
Looking for some lifeline pull to me through
Doubled down on the moment when I let it ride

Trying to survive in this depression
Waiting on your love only seems to bring me down
Learning to survive in this depression
And my heart just can't be found
Without you around
Without you around

Without you around
Yeah

Granted all is justified
There ain't no miss understanding here
Still I, I know how hard I tried
To keep the path of least resistance clear
So clear
To relish the moment as I vacate your side

Trying to survive in this depression
Waiting on your love only seems to bring me down
Learning to survive in this depression
And my heart just can't be found
Without you around
Without you around

Give me this moment
To walk with my pride
Yeah

Trying to survive in this depression
Waiting on your love only seems to bring me down
Learning to survive in this depression

And my heart just can't
No my heart just can't Say my heart just can't be found

Learning to survive in this depression
And my heart just can't be found
Without you around
