

Keepin' 6

"1086"

Visit "1086" on MotoLyrics.com

Listen to these words they are a revelation of things we all should know. can you feel it like the vibration? well i do. and theres something fucking wrong constantly searching for the never-ending truth the problem's not anything but the lack of sense and the lack of any proof and i know. that something's fucking wrong how many times have we been stuck with only 10 feet to go?

i don't care what the fuck they say they can't get me down
how many times have we been fucked for not doing what were told?
i don't care about them anyway. they won't get me
down
this time is not the first and sure as hell won't be the last

we live in a time and age where we look and act like clones while the corporate managers are sitting on their thrones
while i run around like a motherfucking slave telling me when and where and how to behave well i don't care what the fuck they say, they're not getting me down. i'm never giving up they say "take these pills. they will take the pain away" the same prescription that i got the other day "no there's no alternative. just take these now" don't ask no questions. you better not disavow an oblivious world we live in i wonder will it ever stop faster by the minute. as we slowly start to flop sometimes i feel like i just don't care and then i realize that my life has lost its flair

