Bullshit
it's all that i hear it seems that every time somebody's talking, its coming out their rear tension no matter how hard i try it just keeps keeps building building up up inside

shut up
i've said it twice this time you're babbling on & on & on like you committed a crime

breakdown you're fucking at it again you're telling me your life story don't mean to offend just get to the point and give me the message you're trying to send welcome to the part of the song where were gonna break it down for ya settle the score tell ya more start to explore the deep down core of intoxication chatter

I seem to be getting the feeling that this talk is all about you never stopping for a breath i don't even have a clue i'm not even paying attention so i'm bound to misconstrue and when i say these words do they even get through?
