all of this fighting. its not exciting why cant we all come together as one we can no longer become any stronger until this war of racism is won all for one and one for all you have no right to be making the call so stop this fighting its not exciting rise up now, before we fall why cant we all just think the same it seems you always need someone to blame why cant others opinions all contain passion and love. ain't it a fucking shame cause the damage is done but together we can stop the bleeding together as one we'll lay down our arms and start exceeding were going nowhere cause this is all bullshit and all in all i cant take anymore of it i turn my back to those who try to discriminate its just a stupid excuse to place all you're hate upon someone else who's not like you what the fuck am i supposed to do?

step back to reality step back boy when you're talking to me step back cause you're outta control yeah, you're out of control
