

Margo Hennebach

"Something So Special"

Visit "Something So Special" on MotoLyrics.com

I've finally woken up and I feel fine!

What's a love song without you in my life?
It's a tree that's been cut down
It's a song that's lost its way in the world
Never to be found
What's a love song without you in my life
And how could it be
That something so special as you in my life
Was never meant to be

What's a morning without you by my side?
It's a dawn without the sun
It's a bed that won't keep still at night
It is breakfast just for one
What's a morning without you by my side
And how could it be
That something so special as mornings with you
Was never meant to be

You had hands so strong
I shut my eyes when you held me tight
Then you spun me 'round
Until I was dancing alone in the night

One day I'll wake up and I know I'll feel fine
And life will go on
The songs will write themselves, yes they will,
And the trees will find the sun
Then I'll see you and I'll remember the time
When you told me
That something as special as this in our lives
Was never meant to be

That something so special as you in my life
Was never meant to be

Visit Margo Hennebach page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

