Where in the world are the people I love
Something inside me just tells me I'm wrong
The blue of the water is changing to red
The grass isn't green just turns into grey

All the changes I've done
I'm here next I'm gone
My dreams faded into the silence of fear
I can't go on like this when you left my dreams
I'm losing not one more tear

And changes will come and dreams disappear
I remember the good times
Controlling my anger again

I sit alone and I'm watching the clock
I'm going insane, just wait here for nothing
My smile is gone by the things go wrong
It seems my weakness is stronger again

All the changes I've done, I'm here next I'm gone
My dreams faded into the silence of fear
I can't go on like this when you left my dreams
I'm losing not one more tear

Changes will come and dreams disappear
I remember the good times
Controlling my anger again

And there is nothing left to say
You can turn away
