I'm much to tired, I can't sleep
as I push you away

Then you come to me
you come to me again, yeah!
come to me
come to me again, yeah!

Dressed in your leather, always forever the old man smiles on your grave it's your act of god - his words, his prayers as he's digging away

Then you come to me
you come to me again, yeah!
come to me
come to me again, yeah!

You think that we can travel far to see it over again You think we can travel far...

they will be breaking down your door soon...

if I am over you, your shit untrue just take me home to live my life for tonight i'm with you for tonight

choices are gone when it's over the common lies from the words she said your act of god is full of shit

I'm much to tired, I can't sleep
As I push you away

Then you come to me...
