Mercy, mercy, won't you see what I've become,
I see the new day coming and I'm turning round and round.

You see, the old day is over and the new one's just begun

But we all go to heaven with the setting of the sun.

All of my nighttimes and all of my days
I've been looking for something I've been looking through our haze,
I could've done many things that could've been left undone,
But we all go to heaven with the setting of the sun.

Clap hands, clap hands.

Well, I was born into this world so happy and so free,
But your kind of loving got a hold over me,
Love is following me, following me like a killer with a gun,
But we all go to heaven with the setting of the sun.

Kings were able, didn't he kill him for a price,
Nothing ever comes for free, at least the full advice,
I've been looking for a reason why I came undone,
But, well, we all go to heaven with the setting of the sun.

Well, didn't they say that love was free?
Didn't they say that love was free?

Well, didn't they say that love was free?
Didn't they say that love was free?
Didn't they say that love was free?
Well, didn't they say that love was free?
Didn't they say, didn't they say, didn't they say that love was free?
Didn't they say, didn't they say, didn't they say that love was free?
Didn't they say, didn't they say, didn't they say that love was free?

Well, we all go to heaven with the setting of the sun.
