Twentyone was coming
It was nothing like it should be
Time for me to change me
So I took my life well you won't see

Cause I'd been gazing higher
A search for independence now you see
I need to feel so free

Don't you feel spectacular?

My love, she she she she's the sun
She she she she's so shy
It could be anyone but
My love she she she shines on me
She she she shines so bright
She makes me weak you see cause
My love, she she she she's the sun
She she she she's so shy
But that is quite alright cause I'm ready to burn

I stumbled in to your world
Like a wounded from a battle
I used to be a player and nothing was really sacred
I used to be a loner, you justify the things I've done before
You're what I was searching for

Don't you feel spectacular?

Been watching you for a while Now don't let this pass you by
Don't you feel spectacular?
