

Knight Area

"Summerland"

Visit "Summerland" on MotoLyrics.com

Looking around in anxiety
How concrete walls stare back at me
How can I bear this being alone
The hollow caves are made of stone
Only the thoughts of my desolate plan
Remind me I once was a man
The fatal dreams escape the light
Where all the fools before me died
A sinner among the sinners
An everlasting pain
A voiceless thought running through my head
Will soon drive me insane

The levels of my consciousness are deep
When spirits haunt my dreamless sleep
Whisper to me with their snake-like tongues
To whom my cursed soul belongs
A sinner among the sinners
An everlasting pain
A voiceless thought running through my head
Will soon drive me insane

It's raining tears of crying angels
In endless wastes of time
A frozen flower in the garden of Eden
Where only stars may shine
My cold dying soul will slowly close its eyes
But I don't sleep to well and I'm sending myself
To the gates of hell

In a dream I fantasize
How I will slowly rise
And watch through the eyes of a child
The world that could be
To be unbound wander round
Far across the globe
Through a god-sent no man's land
On the wings of hope

Visit Knight Area page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

