(Georgesco D'Anjou)

Take my hand, hold it tight

That's what I need tonight

Where, where have you been

Don't ask for more it's to late

No devotions I lost my faith

Where, where have you been

And some will love you all their lives

Some will love you for the night

None of these I'll ever know

I've given up it's just not for me

I was told many times

That no love would be mine

Where, where have you been

I'm exhausted, I am through

Hurts me more and more to need you

Where, where have you been

Some will love you all their lives

Some will love you for the night

None of these I'll ever know

I've given up it's just not for me
