"Time Above The Earth"

i've spend so much time above the earth,
thinking about life and each man's worth, how can one person be worth more than,
a thousand people knocking on his door,
Still the motion of you hair, well that could take me anywhere because your happier than i pleas don't say goodbye.

The i get off the plane.
A thousand thoughts flasing through my brain
Like am i really here at all?
And will i see her again?
if i do will it be the same,
And am i really here at all?
