This old song won't take long
Just to tell what went wrong
I had to leave my old home
And now I'm walking all alone

You can see me through your eyes
I'm the one that's tellin' lies
You can play your little games
But you cannot change my name

So I'll go where I know
My seeds will sow

If I walk that lonesome road
To the valley of despair
Then I know when I get out
Darkness cannot find me there

And the time that it takes
And the mark that it makes
They will change me just the same
But you cannot change my name

So I'll go where I know
My seeds will sow
