Another cold night and the light is getting dim
I find myself in that place I've always been

I'm drifting with the tide
In the endless flow of time
Are we gonna let these days slip away?

I look around for all that I can see
The tide's gone out and there's nothing left for me

I'm dreaming of a place away from the world I've always known
A place I've never found somewhere that I call home
And all these things I've never seen or ever done
There's always later but later never comes

I'm drifting with the tide
In the endless flow of time
Are we gonna let these days slip away?

I look around for all that I can see
I'm moving on to be the best that I can be
But time goes on after you and me

These moments come once in our life
Don't let them pass you by
The tide's gone out but time goes on We've seen you grow, you're moving on You're moving on, you're moving on

I look around for all that I can see
I'm moving on to be the best that I can be
But time goes on after you and me
