(Music by Richard Marx Lyrics by Fee Waybill)

Nowhere to hide, you can't escape the fun
No matter where you run
All that is gone with the times
And time will tell on you if you don't carry through You've got your soul on the line

Long as you know which side the sun rises on everyone
Whenever you go you'll understand
Holding the light in the center of your hand, there's a

Whole world to save
There's a whole world
You can start any place, there's a Whole world to save, whole world
Not any reason to wait

You're alone, you and everything with a face
Why'd they call it human race?
All in a world of our own
I think it's gone far enough, I say we call their bluff Somebody's got to be strong
If you get one wild night in life, oh, you'd better get it right
If it's the only life you get What is it worth if it's you and nothing left, there's a chorus

Making a difference, seeing what nobody sees I won't wait for deliverance 'cause I know it's waiting for me

Long as you know which side the sun rises on everyone
Whenever you go, you'll understand
Holding the light in the center of your hand, there's a

chorus
