When day time still remains to get away
In my dreams i pray
One more time to see your face again,
That i will follow way.
Just one more time to see your eyes
Then you can go down to sleep
Just once to hold you,
That i will follow way.

You said: my little one don't you cry
There was no time for me to say goodbye
A force beyond my choice was calling me
It was my destiny.
So many things more i need to do
Then if it looks like it's stealing me from you
You got it always deep down in your heard
That we will never be apart.

Memories are always here to stay,
You gonna be holding on
You gotta be strong
That i will follow way
Just one more time to see your eyes
And i leave go down to sleep
You are too young
That i will follow way.
I'll dry these tears, chase these fears this road you need to take
And angels are showing you the way
You wake up now in another world
But the promise you won't brake
You'll be watching me every step i take.

You said: my little one don't you cry
There was no time for me to say goodbye
A force beyond my choice was calling me
It was my destiny.
So many things more i need to do
Then if it looks like it's stealing me from you
You got it always deep down in your heard
That we will never be apart.
